

Mantra (noun): a mystical formula of invocation or incantation

Whether you call them mantras, affirmation statements, incantations or something else, the energy that is derived from the mental seeds that are planted in your mind based on what comes out of your mouth is very powerful.

As you begin putting the Marketing With Ease™ method to work for you, expect to experience tangible wins. In fact, as you shift from mildly successful to wildly successful, expect that some people will start to treat you differently. Some people will pull away from you, others will try to take advantage of you and others who might start to speak ill of you trying to sabotage your wins. Don't be discouraged! Just like the Earth rotates, so does the energy force that guides your life. Trust in the fact that the people who are suppose to be in your life (personally and professionally) will always show up. You might, however, just need to be patient enough to hold on until the next rotation. ☺

These mantras are designed to reinforce what you have learned and experienced through the Marketing With Ease™ method. Say them daily as part of your deep desire and commitment to letting go of ordinary living in pursuit of an extraordinary life.
